ANIME CLUB

Joe Mauro

Every Other Tuesday 3-4:15 (Sci 5)

With roots way back in the early 1900s, Japanese animation has made its way from comic book origins to dominating the mainstream here in 2020. What started with superhero stories has evolved into a medium that encompasses every genre imaginable. These compelling stories have captured the awe of students across the globe, inspiring many of them to get involved in art and storytelling of their own. The anime community is strong here in the Herricks district. Students will drive their own discussions, debates, and reviews of anime shows, movies and manga (the text version of anime). Many of the novels read by our middle school students in English class have anime or manga that is either directly parallel to those stories or is the actual basis for the western counterpart. The series Hunger Games, for example, is directly based on a classic manga book. With crosscutting themes and characters between student's academic reading and the anime they watch for fun, this club will increase literacy and analysis skills, all while giving them a place to make friends!
